Employees with lab-confirmed COVID-19

An employee with a positive test for COVID-19 will be contacted by the SD Dept. of Health (SDDOH). SDDOH will provide them with guidance and help them identify close contacts. The impacted employee, and the employer, will be advised with information on what to do and follow-up steps.

When can the employee return to work?

If the employee has symptoms consistent with a COVID-19 infection –cough, shortness of breath, fever, chills, repeated shaking with chills, muscle pain, headache, sore throat, or new loss of taste or smell – the employee will need to stay home, contact their medical provider if symptoms become severe, and self-isolate until:

- Symptoms have improved, AND
- A minimum of ten days has passed since symptoms first appeared, AND
- Fever (100.4°F or higher) has been gone for at least 3 days without the use of fever-reducing medications.

For example:

- If the employee has a fever and cough for two days, the employee needs to stay home and self-isolate for three more days with no fever and no use of fever-reducing medication, and at least ten days have passed.
- Or, if the employee has a fever and cough for seven days, the employee needs to stay home and self-isolate three more days with no fever for a total of ten days. Additional guidance for self-isolation can be found here.

Employers will not need a healthcare provider release for food employees to return to work.

ESTABLISHMENTS:

- Increase cleaning (soap/water), sanitizing, and disinfection frequencies, especially high-contact surfaces such as door handles, tables, menus, condiments and restroom fixtures. Deep clean all areas of the establishment as time allows.
